ABOUT ME

Urooba Batool

Hello! I'm a passionate frontend developer with a strong foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Bootstrap. My journey in web development is driven by a desire to create visually appealing and user-friendly websites.

Currently, I am expanding my skill set by learning PHP and exploring other programming languages to enhance my abilities and bring more creativity to my projects. I enjoy working on diverse projects that challenge me and help me grow both technically and creatively. When I'm not coding, I love engaging with people through social media and exploring the latest trends in UI/UX design. My goal is to continuously improve and create digital experiences that leave a lasting impact.